Make an Impact on the Future of MarTech Talent

The MarTech industry is currently facing a significant talent shortage making it challenging for companies to fill crucial roles. There is a vast gap in the MarTech talent pipeline and it has become very difficult to identify early talent who have interest and proficiency in marketing technologies. As an industry, we need to invest in the training and development of students while helping educators stay current with modern marketing practices.

"Drive for 25" is an actionable way for companies to educate and inspire students about what a successful career in MarTech looks like through an ANA university membership donation. There are 25 colleges and universities who have raised their hand to become "adopted" by companies to incorporate MarTech training, guest speakers, and/or case studies into their curriculum.

Learn how to support this monumental shift to build a much-needed MarTech talent pipeline, by contacting Marni Gordon, SVP, Partnerships at mg@aef.com.
